SHOE SAYINGS

For Feminine Readers

A shoe to please a woman must be elegant in appearance, must fit the foot like a glove, ought to have more than a semblance of comfort, and the price should not be sky-high. Well, we have just such shoes, and ask the ladies of Victoria to pass their opinions upon them. Shall we ask in vain? In this case our vote is for women judges.

Trial of Shamrocks

The Two Yachts Sailed Over a Windward and Leeward Course To-day.

After Two Hours Sailing the Challenger Led by Two Minutes.

But on the Home Run the Old Boat Passed Watson's Latest.

(Associated Press.)
Ryde, Isle of Wight, May 21.—The two Shamrocks started to-day over a course similar to the windward and leeward of the contests for the American-cup. Starting from No Man Fort the course was laid 15 miles to windward and return. A moderate varying breeze of 8 to 12 knots was blowing, and the water was smooth.
The Erin was awaiting the boats at No Man Fort, and started them. Shamrock II came around ahead of Erin's boat, and immediately after the signal was given led her out to a fine start, having the advantage of probably half a minute. They went off beating to windward on short tacks with the challenger pointing rather better, going faster and increasing her lead a little on every tack. The wind hauled around and the weather conditions became such as to raise doubts if they could finish the 30 mile course within the five and a half hours allowed in cup matches.
The conditions seemed admirably to suit the challenger. She pointed higher and tacked faster than the old boat, and gradually edged out to windward and went ahead. Once clear of the island point they had a few cross tacks in shore and the Shamrock I dropped into the wake of the leader as they fetched off.
The times at a mark off the end of the island were as follows: Shamrock II—12:34:10; Shamrock I—12:36:02. This showed nearly two minutes gain for the challenger in an hour's sailing and part of the time Shamrock II sailed without a job topsail, and looked as though she had the whole game in hand.
Challenger Ahead.
London, May 21.—After two hours' run to-day, Shamrock II led Shamrock I by 2 minutes and 12 seconds.
Positions Changed.
London, May 21.—2:29 p. m.—Shamrock I overhauled and passed Shamrock II on the run home.
Shamrock I Won.
London, May 21.—4:12 p. m.—Shamrock I won by barely half a minute.

INDIANS GIVE TROUBLE.

Defy the Authority of the Agent, Who Has Appealed for Troops.

(Associated Press.)
Denver, Col., May 21.—A special to the News from Lander, Wyo., reports that an Indian outbreak is imminent on the Shoshone reserve. Six hundred Arapahoes have defied the authority of the agent, Captain Nickerson, who refused them permission to hold their annual Sun dance and denied them passes. Trouble has been brewing for some time from other causes, such as the late orders giving them rations but twice a month instead of weekly as heretofore, and the failure of the government to issue seed grain for sowing. Captain Nickerson has applied to the Indian department for United States troops to maintain his authority, and it is feared a clash may occur at any moment. The Shoshones have not yet joined in the revolt.

Demand Made In Legislature That Governor Dole Be Removed—New Comet.

(Associated Press.)
Honolulu, May 13, via San Francisco, May 20.—The extra session of the legislature called by Governor Dole for the consideration of appropriation bills is now in session. On the first day of the extra session, the house passed a resolution asking the governor about the County Government Act, which was left in his hands at the end of the regular session and which fell a victim to a pocket veto. The passage of the resolution to make this enquiry was preceded by a fiery debate, in which it was declared that the governor must be removed. In response to the resolution the governor's secretary replied that no action had been taken with regard to the bill. The executive brought forth a resolution of "want of confidence" in Governor Dole. The resolution introduced a concurrent session passed the House by a vote of 12 to 11.
Governor Dole has been compelled by illness to retire to the Waianae mountains for rest. He has turned over the business of his office to Secretary Henry E. Cooper, who is now acting governor of the territory.
Vice-Principal Chas. E. Ellston, of the Honolulu high school, discharged last night what is supposed to be a new comet. The comet was in the constellation of Orion, and when seen at about 8 o'clock last night was about 15 degrees above the horizon to the west. The tail was thought to be about ten degrees or more in length. It is thought that the comet is an entirely new one, as there is no known comet due at this time.

Progress of The Strike

President O'Connell Estimates the Number of Men Idle at Fifty Thousand.

About One Hundred Additional Firms Have Made Concessions to Machinists.

(Associated Press.)
Washington, May 21.—The storm center to-day of the general strike of machinists throughout the country were in the vicinity of Cincinnati, O., and on the Pacific Coast. The number of firms that had signed agreements were augmented to-day by about a hundred, which brings the aggregation of the establishments making the concessions during the past three or four days to one thousand in round numbers. Save in one or two instances, as at Scranton, Pa., the allied trades have not yet been affected. It is said at the general headquarters of the machinists, however, that where agreements are not effected by this afternoon or to-morrow, many of the men in the allied trades will go out in the individual shops where the machinists are already out.
The estimate of President O'Connell, of the National Association of Machinists, as to the number of strikers to-day remain at 50,000 approximately. The executive board of the association is in session here watching the progress of the strike.
Decision of Detroit Manufacturers.
Detroit, Mich., May 21.—At a meeting of the manufacturers last night, which was attended by 21 representatives of the largest manufacturing concerns of this city, it was unanimously voted that those present should not sign the agreement presented by the machinists. It is estimated that these concerns employ 585 of the 700 machinists of Detroit, and that the men on strike will have a long test of their endurance.
Situation in New York.
New York, May 21.—At the headquarters of district 15, International Association of Machinists, it was said to-day that only two firms of any importance in this city had refused to grant the request of the machinists for a 9-hour day. The two firms are the R. Hoe Printing Press Company, in Grand street, employing 800 machinists, and the Garvin Machine Company, in Varlick street, where five hundred men are on strike. The Metal Trades Association, consisting of a number of employers affected by the strike, met in session to-day to consider the situation.
IMPERIAL COMMONS.
Motion of Sir H. Fowler Disapproving the Budget Proposals Was Rejected To-day.
(Associated Press.)
London, May 21.—The House of Commons, by 300 to 123 votes, rejected the motion of Sir Henry Fowler, Liberal, which was supported by the Liberal leaders, disapproving the budget proposals. Mr. Balfour, the government leader, announced that the government would regard its adoption as a vote of non-confidence. The Irish members abstained from voting.
THE GREAT NORTHERN.
Former Senator Pettigrew May Be Executive Head of the System.
(Associated Press.)
Chicago, May 21.—A special to the Record-Herald from St. Paul says: "Railroad men who have knowledge of the plans of J. J. Hill are positive in the assertion that former Senator Pettigrew will be made the executive head of the Great Northern railway system. It is generally accepted here as a fact that Mr. Hill has decided to make New York his permanent home."

The Bill Withdrawn

Members of Crow's Nest Southern Railway Company Would Not Sign Agreement.

The Granting of a Bounty to Lead Refused in Canada.

Bill Read a First Time—The Resolution Has Been Slightly Altered.

(Special to the Times.)
Ottawa, May 21.—On the motion of Mr. Davis, Saskatchewan, the bill regarding the Crow's Nest Southern railway was formally withdrawn.
Several members asked for an explanation, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the members of the company would not sign the agreement which was adopted at the railway committee.
The bill was dropped.
Bounty on Lead.
A resolution giving a bounty of $5 per ton on refined lead in Canada was passed and the bill read a first time.
This resolution was changed, making the bounty to commence on July 1st, 1902, instead of January 1st, 1902.
This was at the request of those who were applying for the bounty.
Decision Reserved.
The application of the Red Mountain railway to cross the C. P. R., so as to reach the War Eagle and Centre Star, was heard before the railway committee of the privy council to-day, and decision was reserved. Mr. A. H. McNeill, Rossland, appeared for the Red Mountain road.
Application Granted.
In the Red Mountain railway case the committee decided to give permission to build a branch line as asked for, and directed that both parties have the use of the respective portions of the lines already built, to be settled by the parties concerned and approved by the committee.
A. Morrison, M. P., appeared with Mr. McNeill for the Red Mountain line.
Appeal Cases.
In the case of Houston and Ward, a British Columbia case in the Supreme court, vs. Merchants Bank of Halifax, the appeal by Houston was dismissed with costs. The appeal by Ward was allowed with trifling reservation as to costs.
CHARGED WITH MURDER.
Business Man Alleged to Have Shot His Partner During a Quarrel.
(Associated Press.)
Lewisston, Idaho, May 21.—A sensation has been caused here by the arrest of John N. King, a well known business man, charged with the murder of Chas. E. Thatcher. The latter, who was a partner of King's, was murdered in the firm's store at Lappwai, 12 miles from Lewisston, on the night of July 15th, 1898. King's statement, at the coroner's inquest, was in the effect that two masked men entered the store and shot Thatcher. Two bullets of different calibre were found in his body. The warrant for King's arrest was issued on complaint made by Harry Thatcher, a brother of the murdered man. The state will attempt to prove that King and Thatcher quarrelled, and that King took two revolvers from the bed, which both men occupied, and fired a bullet from each into Thatcher's body.

CONSIDERING REPORTS.

Delegates to Presbyterian Assembly Anxious to Dispose of Routine Business.

(Associated Press.)
Philadelphia, May 21.—The consideration of church board reports was continued at to-day's session of the Presbyterian general assembly. The morning session began at 9:30 o'clock, and the assembly proceeded promptly to business. The special orders of the day were the reports of the committee on home missions, and the colleges and church extension. Addresses were made by the chairman of the committees and boards, and the assembly was urged to exert itself to the utmost in behalf of the various church institutions.
Every effort is being made by the assembly to dispose of all of the routine business before the debate on the resolution shall begin in order that when that subject shall be settled there may be little unfinished business to consider.

ELECTION RIOTS.

Two Persons Killed and Several Injured in Madrid.

(Associated Press.)
Madrid, May 21.—As a result of the elections on Sunday for the chamber of deputies, disturbances occurred at Jansen de Los Caballeros, province of Badajoz, where the populace burned the Octavo papers and the confessions fired upon the crowd, killing one artisan and wounding several.
Serious riots occurred at Carmona, in the province of Seville, and also at Loeches, in the Madrid province. In the last named place one person was killed and two were wounded.

How Ayres Was Shot

Mysterious Death of Young Clerk in New York Hotel Solved.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Mrs. J. J. Bonine was arrested last evening for the shooting of Joseph Ayres, the young department clerk. She has confessed the shooting of Ayres is one of the most mysterious cases that the police of this city ever have been called upon to unravel. He was found lying on the floor of his room over a week ago. The door leading into the room was locked, and it was at first supposed that it was a case of suicide. Blood stains on the fire escape gave the first clue to the police.

Mrs. Bonine's confession was entirely voluntary. A few minutes after 3 o'clock this afternoon she telegraphed for Major Sylvester, chief of police, saying that she was coming to his office, and she appeared there a few minutes afterwards. When she reached the office she said she had a statement which she wished to make, and she was immediately turned over to Horne, who took her confession. She said she was alone in a room with him when the killing took place, and that the shooting was the result of his own misdeed. She said that he had drawn the pistol upon her for the purpose of making her respond to an improper proposal which he had made to her.

Mrs. Bonine says that she immediately grasped the revolver in the struggle which ensued, and it was discharged three different times, striking him at each discharge, the last shot proving fatal. She says that the cries for help which Miss Minns heard were from her, as were also the sobbing which Miss Minns described.

Mrs. Bonine says that after the shooting she passed through the window of Ayres's room and down the fire escape ladder and entered the parlor window of the second floor, passed through the parlor and back up the stairway of the hotel to her own room on the fourth floor. She then washed her hands, undressed and retired.

Mrs. Bonine was entirely self-possessed when she made her confession, and did not exhibit any evidence of either present or past mental excitement. She apparently about 22 years of age, and says she was born in Mass., Me.

After she had concluded her statement, the woman was placed under arrest and sent to the house of detention.

EXPOSITION DEDICATED.

Parade Enjoyed by Enormous Crowd of Visitors—Telegrams of Congratulations.

Buffalo, May 20.—The Pan-American exposition was today formally dedicated. The day began with a parade, in which there were men from nearly every country in the world, and ended with a bombardment from flying bombs and a brilliant electrical illumination. Between the two were the formal exercises of the dedication. The city was bright with flags and bunting.

The parade that formed at the city hall and marched by way of the main streets to the exposition grounds, made an interesting spectacle and thousands of persons lined the route. As the procession formed there was a reception of the distinguished visitors, foreign representatives, state commissioners, officers and officials at the city hall.

Vice-President Roosevelt was the guest of the hour, and when he reached the hall the parade was started with a volley of aerial bombs. The entry of the procession to the exposition grounds at noon was a magnificent spectacle. The crowd in the grounds at that time numbered fully 40,000, and the greater part of it was massed in the Esplanade. Dozens of war kites carried flags and streamers floated high in the air.

The excitement began at 12 o'clock with the rendition of Handel's "Alleluia," by the First Regiment band. Bishop Charles H. Cowler led in prayer. President Millburn read a series of congratulatory telegrams from Central and South America and Canada, and their reading provoked cheer upon cheer.

The Governor-General of Canada directed me to express to you his hearty congratulations on the opening of the Pan-American exposition, which his Excellency sincerely hopes may be in every way successful. (Signed) Harry Graham, aide-de-camp to the Governor-General.

Today's total admissions from 8 a.m. until 11 p.m. were 101,087. This does not include several thousand persons who came in through the Lincoln park way entrance with the parade.

of the standing committee on missions for freedom, the reports of the boards of ministerial relief and education of the special committee on judicial commissions. This last report is considered second in importance only to that of the committee on revision, as it recommends the creation of judicial commissions of Presbyteries and Synods and a permanent judicial commission from the membership of the general assemblies to sit as a court of final appeal.

THE STRIKE OF MACHINISTS.

At Cincinnati—Many Men, Not Members of Union, Quit Work. Cincinnati, Ohio, May 20.—Although the machinists' strike in this city was not set to occur until 10 a.m., processions formed as early as 7.30 o'clock, marched to the larger manufacturing concerns and called the men out. The response was quite general even among employees not members of the Machinists' Association, who had given no intimation that they were in sympathy with the strike. At several of the large plants, however, the men are all at work, even where no increase of wages has been granted.

Situation in Connecticut. New Haven, May 20.—The situation throughout Connecticut is quiet at the end of the first day of the machinists' strike. The total number of men out in the city of the state, with the exception of Hartford, approximately close to the claims of the unions at the opening of the conflict, and scattered additions during the day indicate that the machinists at least lost no ground. At Hartford the strikers number about 2,500 to-night, including the lockout operatives, 1,000 less than was expected.

At Seneca Falls. Seneca Falls, N. Y., May 20.—All the iron working industries here closed today on account of the strike of the machinists and allied metal workers. One thousand men are out.

Railway Employees Idle. Elmira, N. Y., May 20.—All of the machinists and boiler-makers employed in the Lackawanna railway shops here struck today because of the company's refusal to grant the demand of the union for a nine-hour day, with ten hours pay. The machinists in the Payne engine works and I. B. Coleman's foundry also went out, making 200 in all.

Two Thousand Men Stop Work. Newark, N. J., May 20.—A thousand machinists struck here today to enforce the demands of the union, and fully 1,000 machinists and helpers employed in four different shops in Plainfield, N. J., went on strike.

At Scranton. Scranton, May 20.—Every machine shop here is idle today, the strike ordered by International President O'Connell going into full effect on the demand for a day of nine hours and increase of 11 per cent. in wages. Altogether 3,000 men quit work this morning, and these, with Lackawanna railway machinists and car shop men out for a week past, make nearly 5,000 on strike in Scranton.

Many Traders Affected. San Francisco, May 20.—Sixty-five hundred union machinists and other iron trade workmen affiliated with them quit work in this city today. It is expected that 1,000 more men will join the strikers as soon as they shall be ordered to do so by their respective national directors. Among the latter are the iron molders and the cast-ironers. The other crafts affected included almost every branch of the iron shop building and boiler making trades.

It's an ill omen, thinks the wife, to have the wedding ring slip from the finger. "Something is going to happen."

Something is happening. That ring could hardly be pulled from the finger when it was put there a few years ago. Now it slips off by its own weight. How thin the fingers have grown! And the fingers don't grow this alone. How thin the face is and how thin the once plump form. Almost unconsciously the wife has been fading and wasting away. The strength given to children has never been regained. Drains which should have been stopped have been neglected.

More Boers Been Taken

Last Week Over Two Hundred Burglars Were Captured—71 Surrendered.

Dewet Reported to Be in Orange River Colony, Near Philippopolis.

London, May 20.—Lord Kitchener reports that last week 19 Boers were killed, 14 wounded, 228 were made prisoners, and 71 surrendered, and that 212 rifles and 105,000 rounds of ammunition were captured.

Dewet's Whereabouts. Cape Town, May 20.—Eight hundred Boers have crossed the Orange river from the northwest and have reinforced the commandos in the eastern districts. The latest reliable report locates Dewet near Philippopolis, in the Orange River Colony, and not far from the Cape line, with 40 horses and men. All the commandos—in the Orange River Colony have instructions to cross the Orange river. Several British patrols have been ambushed.

THE LATE FATHER PHILLIPS.

Remains Here Laid at Rest in Pottstown Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Pottstown, Pa., May 20.—Father Edward S. Phillips, the miners' friend, who died in New York on mysteriously, was buried in the Catholic cemetery in this city this morning with impressive ceremonies. On the altar of the edifice where Father Phillips had served as altar boy and priest, clergy from every section of the state were gathered. Thirty minutes after the doors of St. John's, the largest Catholic edifice in North-eastern Pennsylvania, were opened, 6,000 people filled all the available space.

FILIPINOS RELEASED.

Manila, May 20.—Gen. MacArthur celebrated the surrender of the insurgent generals, Mascara and Lacuna, by releasing one thousand Filipino prisoners.

Gen. Moxie, the insurgent chief of the island of Leyte, has surrendered with 20 men of his command.

The president of the island of Luzon has been arrested and brought to Cavite, charged with being an accomplice of the insurgents.

A. E. Greenwood, T. Gold, A. E. Nathan, R. P. McKeen and J. H. Smith, delegates from this city to the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, which convened at Revelstoke, has returned home and report that they had a very enjoyable trip. Before the sitting of the lodge the delegates were welcomed by the members of the Knights at a banquet, at which the mayor and council were present. A very pleasant evening was spent. An address of welcome was read. At the session the order was reported to be in a very flourishing condition both financially and numerically, and it was decided to organize three new lodges, one at Phoenix and the others at other points in the upper country. While at Revelstoke the members of the Grand Lodge received an invitation, which was accepted, to visit Kamloops after the convention. They were met at the station and taken charge of by the members of the Kamloops order, and visited the various mining properties of the district. They inspected the Iron Mask, a mine which has recently commenced shipping ore.

SHAKESPEARE'S DESCENDANTS.

The story of Shakespeare's descendants throws its sidelights on the frailty of human nature. They became, as a matter of fact, extinct in 1670, and of this strict genealogical proof can be given. Nevertheless, claims to lineal descent are constantly put forward by various persons bearing Shakespeare's name or that of some family into which one of his daughters married. Mrs. Stopes, in her book on "Shakespeare's Family," records a London alderman in 1767, who claimed to have inherited "not only Shakespeare's dinner service, but his teapot." One William Smith, "descendant from the next-of-kin to that immortal bard," kept the Shakespeare Inn at Gloucester during the present century, and was the descendant of a family of Shakespeares having at intervals advertised their deaths in the newspapers as of "one of the last lineal descendants of Shakespeare." Nevertheless, as Mrs. Stopes shows, Shakespeare's line ended with his granddaughter Elizabeth, Lady Barnard, in 1670, and "his poems alone are his posterity."—London Academy.

Show Opens To-Morrow

American Fanciers Will Try to Defeat "Roy Montez" With "Bush Fleet."

Final Preparations Being Made at Philharmonic Hall For Reception of Dogs.

Active preparations were commenced yesterday morning in preparing Philharmonic hall for the reception of the competing canines in the first annual bench show of the Vancouver Island Kennel Club. This morning the officials of the club were at the hall helping to arrange the kennels in an systematic and comfortable manner as possible for the accommodation of the dogs.

For a time at least Prof. Bob Foster's boys will have to suspend their athletic operations to allow the aristocratic dogs an opportunity to show off their fine qualities.

Some of the best animals in the country will take part in the show, and the entries which closed on Wednesday, May 15th, show a total of 219 dogs to enter. This is a very large number indeed, and, as mentioned before, the accommodation of the Philharmonic hall will have to be extended to its utmost to allow sufficient room for all.

The show will open to-morrow, and will continue on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. This evening some 40 dogs are expected from the Sound cities and Portland, and the local fanciers will have to look to their kennels if they hope to hold the greater number of the prizes in this city.

It may be well to mention in this connection for the benefit of those who have entered dogs that none will be received before 7 a. m. or after 12 p. m. to-morrow. Judging will commence promptly at 2 p. m., and each exhibitor will receive a ticket of identification for all dogs entered.

Henry Jarrett, whose services have been obtained as a judge, is one of the greatest collic fanciers in America, and as it is reported that the collic class is to be abnormally strong at to-morrow's show, and as the competition, it is expected, will be exceptionally keen, Victorians will feel great satisfaction when they know that the acknowledged judge of the breed in America will occupy that position.

The American fanciers of Seattle and Portland seem to feel rather bad at the way in which Roy Montez, the Victorian champion English setter, carried all before him at both the show in Seattle and in Portland. It has been rumored that at the Victoria show they will do their best to snatch from the Victoria dog the laurels which he has won.

They propose to do this by Bush Fleet, a son of champion Highland Fleet, now owned by J. H. Pratt, of Laconer, W. H. He is a litter brother to Fleet, winner in the novice class in Seattle, and is a dog of exceptional merit. Great interest is being taken in this effort of the American fanciers, and as Bush Fleet is reputed to be a beautiful specimen of English setter, the competition will undoubtedly be keen, and will excite the deep interest of all who take an interest in dogs.

The Irish setter class, which is, as a rule, never as large as that of the English setters, has some good representatives and competition is expected to be very lively. In the rough-coated terrier class there will be keen competition, as the dog winning first as best terrier in the Seattle show will probably meet his Waterloo here with a recent import and a winner in the East by a local fancier whose name is withheld.

Victorians seem to take a peculiar fancy in raising cocker spaniels. In fact it is safe to say that more of the dogs are raised in this city than even the setter class. In consequence of this the cocker spaniel class (other than black) is especially strong, and promises to be one of the most interesting competitions of the show. Here again it must be a great satisfaction to the officials of the club to have been successful in obtaining the services of such an eminent judge as Mr. Jarrett, as all who have entered dogs believe in the superior qualities of his particular canine, but when the decision of a judge as Mr. Jarrett is given no grumbling voices will be heard.

No. 12 in rough condition, was first in the limit class at Seattle, but was not shown in the open class. No. 2, in fair condition, has just arrived from the East and was first in open and second in limit class. No. 3 was second in open class and third in limit class. She had then, however, just recovered from illness, but is now in blooming condition. Her owner is confident of her winning under these circumstances.

The show will also be instrumental in introducing a new breed to the province, in the Chesapeake. These are the far-famed water dogs of the Atlantic, and are used as retrievers in rough waters, also showing themselves to be unequalled on snipe marshes. There will be some five or six of this breed entered here. They are admirably adapted for the island sportsmen, and will undoubtedly become very popular in this district in a short time.

Perhaps the most exciting competition will be for Mayor Hayward's cup for the best kennel of four dogs owned and bred in this province.

Mrs. Bradley Dynes offers a prize for the best kennel of four dogs open to all. This competition, it is expected, will also be of a very keen and exciting nature.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals offers a prize to the best conditioned dog, for which it is safe to say there will be more entries than in any other competition.

Another competition for which there are a large number of entries is for the prize offered by the V. I. K. C. for the best decorated kennel. Feature of this will be the presentation of the prize by a committee of ladies.

Those who are fortunate enough to attend the show will have the pleasure of seeing a splendid collection of dogs.

Re-Opening an Old Question

Craigflower Road Again the Subject of a Petition to the Council.

City Fathers Incensed Over Legislature's Failure to Pass Municipal Act.

The Craigflower road question made its reappearance at the council's of the city fathers last night, when a petition was presented from a number of rate-payers asking that the city stop proceedings unless raters resident on the road asked that the work be carried out under the local improvement plan.

Hon. J. H. Turner wrote acknowledging the receipt of the council's resolution re Point Ellice bridge. Received and filed.

The secretary of the department of Indian Affairs, Ottawa, in response to the council's representations, wrote to say that the department is in communication with the Indian agent at Victoria in reference to the removal of the Indians from Victoria. Received and filed.

Mr. Helmecken wrote explaining that owing to pressure of business on the last evening of the session the municipal bill had been laid over till the next sitting of the House. He expressed his regret that the labors of the committee had proved abortive.

Ald. Beckwith thought the city had been unfairly dealt with. The city work had been hung up by the legislature's action. He thought the city members, with the possible exception of Mr. Helmecken, were open to censure for failing to press it.

The mayor agreed with this view. Unless the position was carefully explained, he feared the council's attitude would be misunderstood. The failure to put through the municipal bill would have the effect of tying up the Government street paving and the reclamation of the James Bay flats.

Ald. Williams thought the city members should not be singled out for censure, while the mayor thought the three members, exclusive of Mr. Helmecken, had not looked as sharply as they should after the city's interests.

F. Edworthy, secretary of the Jubilee hospital board, wrote urging the payment of $50 for five months' rental of the French hospital building. He also submitted a claim for extra nursing for a city official, which the mayor pointed out was manifestly an error.

The president of the Puget Sound Building Company, expressed his pleasure that the council was pleased with the reception in Seattle. The secretary of the Seattle park committee also wrote warmly acknowledging the gift of swans and guinea pigs to the park from Victoria.

The Dominion Paving & Constructing Company, of Toronto, wrote recommending their system of treating wooden blocks for paving. Referred to the city engineer.

Joshua Daxies wrote objecting to the auctioneer's tax as excessive. Received and filed.

S. Duck, trustee of the Turner estate, wrote to say that the estate was to be sold out in town lots, and suggested that Alfred street be widened at the same time. He solicited a conference with the council on the subject.

The water-commissioner wrote to the council protesting against the restoration of the water trough at the corner of Douglas and Commercial streets, because a number of streets in the neighborhood were water out of the public main and paid no water rate.

Ald. Kinsman and Cameron thought the commissioner should collect water rates if there were people who did not pay rates. The reasons assigned were not sufficient to justify the removal of the trough.

Ald. Brydon moved that the communication be received and filed and the water commissioner instructed to see that the parties concerned pay for their water.

The building inspector notified the council that the buildings on the north-east and north-west corners of Johnson and Broad streets came under the provisions of the Building by-law, and that he had so notified the owners.

Ald. Beckwith moved that the buildings be pulled down. The owners will be notified to remove the buildings. The building inspector also reported that a number of property owners in Chinatown, whose fences had constituted a breach of the by-laws, had since complied with these by-laws.

work should, therefore, if carried out, be done under the Local Improvement by-law, and not paid for out of the general revenue.

That until the property holders in the vicinity of said proposed roadway petition the council to have the same done under the Local Improvement by-law, the council take no further action in the matter.

And your petitioners will ever remain, (Signed) J. P. HIBBEN, And 142 others.

Ald. Beckwith asked if the time had gone by for an appeal from the decision of Mr. Justice Walkem.

The city solicitor answered that it had and no appeal had been taken. The petition was laid on the table.

W. Whittaker and eleven barber shop proprietors prayed that the by-law closing barber shops on Sunday be amended to include both houses.

The city solicitor expressed the opinion that the insertion of the clause would invalidate the by-law. The petitioners will be so advised.

The park committee recommended the establishment of two sets of steps to the beach at South Turner and Cook streets, and that additional seats be installed in the park. Carried.

The streets committee recommended the acceptance of the offer by P. Hansen for the delivery of gravel at $1.10 per cubic yard at any part of the city.

Ald. Brydon urged that the city acquire gravel pits of its own. The report was adopted.

The Home committee recommended the admission of George Thompson to that institution. Carried.

The council were into committee of the whole on the School by-law, with the mayor in the chair. Progress was reported.

The council then adjourned.

PROGRAMME ALTERED. Baseball Match to Take Place on Friday and Naval and Military Sports on Saturday.

The sports committee in connection with the forthcoming celebration met at the city hall last night. It was found that the baseball match between Vancouver and Victoria, which was arranged for Saturday morning, would have to be brought off on Friday, as it is already provided for on that date under the league schedule.

The vacancy in the programme which this change would create will be filled by bringing off the naval and military sports on Saturday forenoon. An appropriation will be asked from the finance committee for this purpose, the details being looked after by a committee consisting of Chief Deasy and Messrs. O'Dell, Wheeler and Moresby.

The programme of events as drafted last night will be as follows: 100 yards flat race; 100 yards three-legged race; 25 yards Victoria cross race; quarter mile race; wheelchair race, 50 yards; mop and pall contest; tug-of-war, soldiers vs. sailors.

The sub-committee on children's sports submitted the following outline of rules to govern in the drill contest—Squad to be composed of boys 10 to 14 years of age; school in the city; either private or public members of companies must have been in actual attendance at school during 30 days previous to the contest; squads to be composed of not less than 32, nor more than 44 (even numbered) exclusive of three officers; actual contest as follows: 1—Singing contest; 2—Forming fours; 3—Right, left and about; 4—Marching in fours, advancing and retiring; 5—Front form, rear form; 6—Marching in line, advancing and retiring; 7—Right and left form; 8—Captains of companies to drill companies; prizes, first value, $30; second, $20.

The programme for the children's sports was also submitted, it being arranged that the prizes should be distributed at the city hall on the Tuesday evening following the celebration. The sports will be as follows: Boys—Boof and shoe race, open to all comers; bicycle race, open to all comers; boys under 8, 100 yards; under 11, 150 yards; under 14, 200 yards; under 16, 300 yards. Girls, under 8, 75 yards; under 11, 100 yards; under 14, 125 yards; under 15, 150 yards. In all events the prizes will be, first valued at $2.50; second, $1.50, and third, $1. The officers are: Judges, Messrs. D. Tait, C. L. Brown and R. Simpson; starters, L. Tait and another; referee, A. B. McNeill; and secretary, Arthur Wheeler.

The committee also approved of the proposal to have a cricket match between Nanaimo and the Fifth Regiment team on Saturday morning.

Miss Marrow, the young woman on Sunday night reported to have escaped from smallpox quarantine at Hazelock, Ontario, is under guard in Auburn, N. Y. She was married to a man of that city yesterday. A few minutes after the wedding the health officials appeared and the couple is now under quarantine.

Alexander Edwin Sweet, founder of Texas Siftings, and a humorist of national reputation under the name of Col. Bill Sweet, and of Rev. W. H. Woodford, died at his home in New York yesterday of heart disease. He was born in Nova Scotia in 1841.

CENT A MEAL.

Economy in Food. "Ease in getting a meal and economy, are two important things," says a lady teacher says about the fully cooked food Grape-Nuts. "I started in on Grape-Nuts because it needed no preparation whatever, and I wanted a little lunch before going to bed, so I had cream and sugar ready and a package of Grape-Nuts. Pouring a little of the food into a sifter I treated it with good rich cream and a little sugar at times, usually it was sweet enough."

"I had a meal that satisfied hunger and I began to sleep well nights. After a while I concluded to make my breakfast of Grape-Nuts and a little fruit rather than go to the boarding house. I found that I began to improve very rapidly in health, and my work became a pleasure."

"I have made a most important discovery, that is that I can have a meal, without a cent of about one cent that is the most nourishing meal that I have ever been able to find, delicious in taste and a real genuine 'food cure' for stomach and bowel troubles."

I have many friends using Grape-Nuts Food regularly. This lady lives at Grouseck, Ohio. Name given upon application by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, Mich.

Proceedings Resumed

Evidence Adduced at the Brooks-Maitly Manslaughter Trial Yesterday Afternoon.

Counsel For Defence Primed on Medical Technicalities—This Morning's Witnesses.

The trial of Eugene Brooks and Willie W. Maitly, charged with manslaughter, was resumed yesterday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock, the examination of Dr. Fitzgibbon, secretary of the provincial board of health, being continued. Counsel, notably Mr. Powell for the defence, yesterday evinced marked familiarity with medical terminology, and during the cross-examination referred to authorities galore, such as Holt, the Lancet and some very prominent personages in the realm of medicine.

When the proceedings were resumed, the witness, Dr. Fitzgibbon, gave his opinion that had proper treatment been given the Maitly child his life would have been saved.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Powell, he said that in some instances symptoms of diphtheria were very similar to those of diptheria. In sporadic cases the symptoms were of such an alarming nature that physicians are usually called in. This might last three or four days, or only a few hours, at intervals.

Witness was questioned at length regarding the various forms of croup, counsel quoting voluminously from Holt on diagnosis, apparently to show that the parents could justifiably assume that their child had this disease.

As regards the post-mortem, witness explained that his duty was to secure specimens of the membrane in order to make bacteriological cultures. He did so and found the diphtheria bacillus. From the examination of the body he would say definitely that he had diptheria.

Had he been summoned three or four hours before the child's death he could immediately have administered anti-toxin. This might have been successful, although admittedly it might have been too late. He adhered to his former statement that had tracheotomy been performed up till a few minutes previous to death, if the case was one of strangulation, the child's life could have been saved. If medical attendance had been summoned at any stage of the illness death might have been averted.

He did not think it possible, from what he had heard of the symptoms, that the child died without a struggle. From the condition of the heart when examined there did not appear to be a possibility that the child was due to heart syncope.

Dr. Meredith Jones, who performed the post-mortem examination, was the next witness. The body was that of a healthy, well-nourished child, externally. Some of the organs were congested, but the condition of the heart and lungs showed that death resulted from strangulation.

His opinion was that death was caused by diphtheria, resulting from suffocation. With the exception of the conditions noted the organs of the child were perfectly healthy—free from organic diseases.

The witness then referred to a case in a house in the vicinity of Maitly's, where there was a child separately ill. After examining the patient and diagnosing the case as one of diphtheria, he secured a supply of anti-toxin from Dr. Fraser and both returned to the house. While preparing the anti-toxin for administration the child gave every evidence of expiration. The child recovered, the anti-toxin and performed tracheotomy and the child recovered. The administration of anti-toxin was very successful in the treatment of diphtheria. The case was one of laryngeal obstruction.

He had three other cases, none of which was as serious as the last mentioned. The object of tracheotomy is to relieve strangulation, and the relief is immediate, although the child may subsequently die of blood poisoning.

Cross-examined by Mr. Powell, he said that he did not consider anti-toxin ineffective after the disease had run four or five days. In the Maitly case he believed that had anti-toxin been administered and tracheotomy performed the child's life would have been saved.

He did not think the child had died of septicaemia. He would not say positively that had tracheotomy been performed just previous to death the child would not have died of blood poisoning.

The next witness was Dr. Hart, coroner, who gave evidence regarding the holding of the inquest.

Dr. Powell, he said he did not remember warning Maitly at the inquest that any evidence he would give might be used against him at his trial.

There was quite an argument at this juncture as to the admissibility of the inquest depositions as evidence, counsel for both sides quoting precedents freely. His Lordship ruled the evidence admissible, noting, however, Mr. Powell's objection.

The case was then adjourned until this morning. (Continued on Page 8.)

COOL. It is not everyone who can display the coolness of the gentleman who once carved a turkey with such misplaced energy as to send it under the table. Seeing that the guests evinced some discomfort, and an anxiety to know where it had gone, he said— "All right, ladies and gentlemen, I have my foot on it."

HIS WAYS. "Why do you seem to dislike Mr. Simpson, Mrs. Hopkins?" "Oh, he's the man who never comes to your house without pulling up the broken window shade, sitting in the disabled chair, or getting the cracked teacup."

CHOICE OF LETTERS. "I think I shall adopt letters as a profession," observed the Party with the Bulging Brow. "Typewriting or sign painting?" inquired the Sarotonic Purson.

VOYAGE OF ADVENTURE.

Little Four-Ton Yacht Pelican Starts on Trip Round the World.

At 7 o'clock this morning, amidst the cheers and farewells of a small party ashore, the little yacht Pelican took her departure on a round-the-world voyage, which for daring and adventure has few equals in the history of sea-faring life. The Pelican is but forty feet long and six feet beam. Yet in this fragile and diminutive craft, which a few men could walk off with on land, two Victorians have declared their intention of visiting the remote corners of the earth in and landing in London a year hence. The adventurers are J. C. Voss, formerly proprietor of the Victoria and Queen's hotels, who has already won fame for himself for attempting the expedition in the sloop Nora, and Norman K. Luxton, a newspaper man who has lately been identified with the publication of "In Black and White," and more recently with the compilation of a directory. Over the bounding billows the two will travel for weeks and weeks with no diversion from the tedium of the trip but what they can find in catching a few raiu drops, for which they have made provision, and in occasionally bringing aboard a bird. Both men seek fortune and fame beyond the narrow confines of their surroundings, and have started on one of the most remarkable expeditions ever heard of, one in the hope of earning world-wide distinction for the plotting of a craft so small on so great an enterprise and the other in the expectancy of securing data galore for newspaper and magazine articles, which they have arranged to write for numerous publications. Mr. Voss is middle aged and Mr. Luxton comparatively young, and have little doubt that their venture will be successful. In fact, Capt. Voss has had the trip in contemplation ever since he returned from San Diego, which point was the farthest south he had gotten on the yacht Nora when he was accompanied by his son and Percy McLeod, a former member of the Times staff.

The Nora's expedition, which left here on July 6th, 1899, is remembered by all along the water front. It failed because of a falling out or disagreement between the crew. The Nora was left behind in San Diego, while the crew divided. Capt. Voss, with his son returning to Victoria and McLeod to San Francisco, from which city he has since been pretty well around the world, being now quartermaster on a steamer running between South Africa and England.

The Pelican has been very quietly fitted up for the long voyage, most of the work having been done on her at Oak Bay, and it was from here she sailed this morning. Her first point of call is to be the Pitcairn Island, where the crew of the Bonny had been exiled and where some interesting curios will, it is hoped, be obtained. Leaving here the party may pay a visit to Cocos Island to have a hunt for the Peruvian treasure there hidden, and for which many expeditions have gone in search. Then the little craft will be headed for Australia, crossing through the South Sea Islands and acquiring all information en route.

After voyaging along the Australian coast, South Africa will be the next point of interest, and then St. Helena, where the energetic newspaper man will, if possible, obtain an interview with Crocker. A trip through the Galapagos is also projected, but it is intended to be in London, if possible, a year from to-day. This could be more easily imagined before the description of the little vessel in which all this travelling is to be done. The hull of the Pelican was originally an Indian war canoe. It has been strengthened and improved upon for the voyage. A keel eight inches in width has been securely bolted to the bottom, and attached to this is about four hundred pounds of lead. She has been ribbed throughout with oak and covered all over with iron. She has been pretty much all housed in and fitted with air-tight compartments. Beneath the flooring is stowed about two tons of ballast. She is schooner rigged, and altogether is calculated by those in charge to be in good shape to weather a stormy sea. The registered tonnage of the Pelican is given as four tons.

GARONNE TOWED AWAY. The management of the steamship Garonne did not wait until Victoria's labor delegates reached Seattle; they took the vessel back to the Sound last night and will there endeavor to have her repairs completed. The end of the trouble, so far as the local unions are concerned, has therefore been reached and work in the different shops will go on as it did before the arrival of the Garonne from the Sound on Saturday morning. During the steamer's stay in port not a stroke of work has been done on her, the machinists, boiler makers and longshoremen of the city being all in sympathy with the strikers in Seattle.

The bringing of the vessel here for repairs under the circumstances was the first case of the kind in the history of the local labor organization, and demonstrated in an unmistakable way the loyalty of the Victoria unions to the parent associations. The expense of towing the Garonne back to Seattle was borne by the owners of the steamer, although the boiler makers had proffered to pay for it out their pockets if the delegation which went to Seattle could make satisfactory arrangements. She was taken back to the Sound by the tug Tye, which arrived for the ship at 7 o'clock last evening. The Garonne was scheduled to sail for Nome on June 5th, but her present trouble it is believed will detain her a week or two.

ISLANDER'S INAUGURAL TRIP.

To-morrow morning, at 8 o'clock the steamer Islander will leave for Vancouver on her initial trip of the season. On leaving the Terminal City for Skagway she will be full of freight and passengers. She takes a big load from here, but considerable space has been reserved for the agents at Vancouver. Among those who have been locally booked for the voyage are W. J. Goppel, J. Miller, A. C. Roberts, Capt. Smith, A. R. Walker, Mrs. Cookson, [M. King and Wm. Wright.

SEALERS STILL OUT.

Five vessels of the Coast sealing fleet are still at sea. They are the Saucy Lata, Anura, Oscar and Hattie, Diana and Umbra. What success they have met with is not known as yet, and the total catch of the fleet cannot therefore be accurately given. The first of the sealers will be leaving for Behring Sea about the 20th of next month. The size of this fleet will depend on the success met with in getting Indian hunters.

ORIENTAL STEAMERS DUE.

Two big Oriental liners are due from China and Japan this week, the Idzumi Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line to-day and the Olympia of the Dowdwell fleet on Thursday. Both have large cargoes, the Idzumi having for Victoria alone some 500 tons of freight. She also has four China passengers for this city.

MARINE NOTES.

Capt. J. G. Cox has received a telegram from San Francisco, announcing the safe arrival of the steam collier Horda at that port yesterday. The vessel, it will be remembered, struck after leaving Captain Pass, and a survey was made on her off the outer wharf, when it was discovered she was taking water, but not sufficient to warrant her detention for repairs. The accident was due, it is said, to a faulty chart, showing more water over the rock than there really was.

Steamer Willapa, which sailed last night for Cape Scott, carried a quantity of powder for the mines along the coast. She has a magazine forward on each deck, and will hereafter carry all the powder required by the miners along the coast. She carried among her passengers W. Norkar, postmaster at Quatsno; W. Teeson, provincial police constable at Quatsno; and W. Warner.

One of the four about sealers, the schooner Dana, arrived last evening with a catch of 365 skins. She had hunted as far north as Cape St. Elias, and had taken some 80 skins off the Fairweather grounds. She reports having sighted the Umbagog off the Fairweather grounds on April 29th, but did not get a distance to speak her.

Steamer Condor passed up to Vancouver this morning, with sugar from Salaverry for the Vancouver Sugar Refinery. She had gone to San Francisco for repairs to her machinery, but on account of the machinists' strike there was unable to get the work done, and so came on to Vancouver.

The Lorne, after towing the ship Glory of the Seas to Union yesterday, will return to port to-day for the brigantine Courtney Ford, which has just been launched from the Esquimalt marine railway. She is bound for Union to there load for St. Michael.

HIS HEART BOWED DOWN.

The thought of the increase in his seasonal indemnity is no balm to the feelings of Col. Prior when he thinks of the treatment British Columbia has received from the government. In the days when we were represented by the old "solid six" - ah! that was the time when the money flowed into the province like water and "irrigated" the interests which brought forth abundantly for the benefit of those chiefly concerned.

We sincerely sympathize with the member for British Columbia. We are sorry that he has had the task of representing the province entirely alone thrust upon him. Smith, Morrison, Maxwell and Gallier are mere featherweights in the political arena. As for Mr. Earle he is in a special class - at all events he is not a featherweight. Neither is he an orator, and according to the Colonel it is much speaking that is needed to convince Parliament that British Columbia has been unjustly treated in the past.

In the meantime it would perhaps be generous on the part of the Colonel to admit that the other members have some interest in the welfare of their constituents and a trifle of weight with the government. It is rather a bold thing for a man to come out and say in print that he is the whole "push."

CENSUS RETURNS.

In these days of numbering the people the statistics which indicate national progress are of surpassing interest. The returns show that Great Britain proper is increasing in population almost as fast as some portions of her colonies.

The returns for England and Wales show a total population for the two countries of 32,525,716. This is an increase of 3,523,191 over the population of 1891, a gain of 12.13 per cent. during the ten years. The census of 1891 showed an increase in the ten years from 1881 of 11.65 per cent. for the same districts.

Ireland decreased in population in the ten years by 248,204, the return showing that she has 4,456,546 inhabitants, Scotland pressing her very closely now with an increase of 446,310 and a total of 4,471,957.

Much interest has been attached to the returns from the agricultural districts of England. Forty-eight counties show decided gains. These include the cities and manufacturing towns, while fourteen counties, mostly confined to agricultural interests, show decreases.

The population of the United Kingdom, taken at the last census in 1891, was 38,104,975. This total was divided as follows, exclusive of the Channel Islands and the army and navy abroad:

Table with 2 columns: Country, Population. England: 27,423,490; Wales: 1,519,855; Scotland: 2,944,482; Ireland: 4,797,550.

The progress of the population in Great Britain and Ireland during the last fifty years is shown by the following table:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Population. 1851: 27,745,942; 1861: 29,321,288; 1871: 31,845,373; 1881: 35,244,482; 1891: 38,104,975.

The estimated population of the United Kingdom and its colonies at the present time is 38,800,000.

The following table shows the population of the great powers at home and abroad from the latest census and estimated figures:

Table with 3 columns: Country, Home, Total. U.K.: 38,104,975; France: 37,000,000; Germany: 45,000,000; Russia: 130,000,000; Austria: 45,000,000; U.S.A.: 76,000,000.

SUPERVISING RAILWAY RATES.

The Colonist has had new light upon the transportation problem since the Legislature was prorogued. It has doubts about the effectiveness of government control of railway rates, and points out something which we thought was generally understood - that governments have an effective control of rates as they have never likely to have until they create new and improved machinery for the purpose of curbing the propensity of common carriers to impose tariffs just as high as the business served can stand without being closed up entirely.

The "structural changes" in Shamrock II, seem to have been made with remarkable celerity. From the remarks of the New York papers the general opinion on this side of the Atlantic is that the challenger is not being sailed up to her form - that Sir Thomas is playing possum with the idea of springing a surprise upon his dear friends and true sportsmen when he arrives with his fleet on this side of the Atlantic - for when he goes in quest of cups the great magnate is not content with the company of a single ship. However, the Yankees are not to be caught off their guard by any means. The Constitution - that is the name of the boat that will defend the cup - is receiving as much attention from the press and public of Gotham as though her defeat meant the downfall of the republic. They have commenced to "tune her up," which is an elaborate process, and will require the undivided attention of a considerable number of men during the entire summer.

LONGSHOREMEN STRIKE.

Demand for More Pay May Have Effect on Local Work.

A crisis will, it is expected, be reached between the stevedores and longshoremen's union on the arrival of the incoming Oriental liners, Idzumi Maru and Olympia. The former is now due, and the latter is expected to-morrow. Both these ships are discharged on the American side by non-union stevedores, the Idzumi Maru by Griffiths & Sprague, Seattle, and the Olympia by McCabe & Hamilton, Tacoma. The rate of wages has been 40 cents per hour for hold men, hatch tenders and winchmen, and 25 cents per hour for truckmen on the dock, but a strike is now on in several of the Sound cities, and hence the prospect of trouble. The men are asking for 40 and 60 cents an hour. They refused to coal the Garonne, but this was because the American Federation of Labor, with which they have been affiliated, acknowledged the machinists' strike to be a just one, and decreed that it should be recognized by all its different branches. If the local union asks for increased pay, when the two steamers arrive, in sympathy with the strikers in the Sound cities, a breach is likely to occur between the stevedores on the one hand and the union on the other. The Tacoma Leader says: "The repairs to the Dowdell Oriental liner Glenocloch, Captain Frakes, will be made here, but no contract will be let for the work. DeWitt & Co. will repair her themselves sufficiently to enable her to proceed to Hongkong, where she will receive a new cylinder head. The necessity for this arises because of the machinists' strike, preventing any of the out-Sound firms from contracting to make the complete repairs. The Albion Iron Works, of Victoria, tendered an offer, but the length of time required was too long. Therefore, temporary repairs will be made at the China Dock, where the liner lies. About a fortnight will be required, and she will then load and sail for the Orient."

REPORTED NEW LINERS.

Rumor That Large Vessels Are to Be Built for China Route.

A Vancouver dispatch says that it is definitely stated by local officials of high standing in the Canadian Pacific railway that in preference to competing with the new trans-Pacific liners, which the Great Northern, has under construction, the Canadian company will put on two new vessels as an addition to the fleet of Empress steamships now plying between this city and the Orient. The two new vessels will, according to the present information, be considerably larger than the Empresses, and much more speedy. There is no doubt that the trip on which William Whyte, who is President Shaughnessy's assistant, has just started, that of travelling across Russia and Siberia to Vladivostok, has a good deal to do with the proposed extension of the Oriental steamship service. —Homes Awaited made to order, Smith & Champion, 100 Douglas street. —For a good plate de-fou-gras sandwich and a cool glass of beer call at Victoria Gardens, May 24th. —The totals of the Victoria clearing house for the week ending May 21st were $552,379; balances, $136,471. —You have been waiting for a nice selection of Tapestries Carpet Squares? Victoria's Celebration Will Be Fully Up to That of Previous Years.

Mayor Hayward Will Entertain to Afternoon Tea—Keen Rivalry.

Given fine weather and no hitch in the arrangements, Victoria will see a Victoria Day celebration for this year fully equal to anything which has been given here in former years, and which has made this city the Mecca of pleasure seekers on the 24th and 25th of May. Arrangements are progressing very satisfactorily and contributions are pouring in liberally in spite of the predictions of those who thought that the coming of the Duke of York would have a tendency to lead people to retain their money for that event. This morning a meeting of the reception committee was convened at the city hall for the purpose of making arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors by the mayor on the afternoon of the regatta. None of the aldermen were present, the mayor and the secretary only putting in an appearance. Full details were not therefore completed, but a general outline was made by the Mayor after the afternoon. Mayor Hayward will in all probability introduce an innovation which will be hailed with satisfaction by a large portion of the citizens by excluding liquors from his table, and substituting therefor tea and coffee. There will be no barge as it is intended, too, that the privileges of the marquee will be for the entertainment of the visitors from outside points, to whom the municipality wishes to show this courtesy, and that Victorians will recognize the necessity for confining it to them. The regatta itself, the secretary stated this morning, he believed would be one of the most successful in the history of the city. The Indian races particularly are going to be of the most intense interest, as it is understood that the Valdez and the Kuper tribes have registered a bet to settle on that day once for all the claims of the Valdez crew to the paddle. The Valdez crew has always met with marked success in the regatta here, but last year their pennant was repeatedly lowered by the Kuperes in contests on the other side. The regatta will furnish an opportunity for the youth to wipe out the blot on their escutcheon and to establish their old time prestige, an outcome which the Kuperes are determined to prevent. Hence those who see the war canoe races here will witness a battle royal for the coveted honor. The procession on Friday morning is also shaping well, and if it equals that of last year the committee will be well satisfied. A number of floats have already been entered, in addition to the business floats which will be put in the

WROTE SERMONS IN HIS SLEEP. The Remarkable Performance of a Young French Ecclesiastic.

Narrating "Some Remarkable Cases of Double Personality," Dr. R. Osmond Mason cites, in the Ladies' Home Journal, the case of a "young ecclesiastic in the seminary with the archbishop—of Bordeaux, France, who was in the habit of getting up at night in a condition of somnambulism, going to his study and composing and writing his sermons in the dark. When he had finished one page he read it over and carefully and properly corrected it. A broad piece of cardboard interposed between his eyes and his writing made no difference to him. He wrote, read and corrected just the same as if there had been no obstruction. Having completed his work to his satisfaction he returned to bed, and in the morning he had not the slightest idea of what he had done in the night, and had no knowledge of it until he saw the manuscript in his own handwriting."

There was another accident on Sooke Lake road last Saturday afternoon. Five workmen were mending a bridge when they were driving blithely along about three miles from their destination when suddenly the whiffletree broke, and in order to repress the ardor of their equine, both described a parabola to Mother Earth, landing without any personal injury, although the road was somewhat disturbed. The quarry into which this unfortunate state of affairs threw the pair was cleared up by the happy suggestion of one of them. It was promptly acted upon, and shortly afterwards the fishermen who had already arrived at the stopping ground were startled by the unique spectacle of one man handling diligently between the shafts, followed by another leading the spirited animal. REMARKABLE JOURNEY

From Mombasa to Khartoum, Via Uganda and the Upper Nile on a Bicycle.

Mr. J. A. Bailey has just reached London from Mombasa having travelled overland via Uganda and the Upper Nile, the journey having been undertaken specially with a view to ascertaining the conditions of transport by this route, and the practicability of its adoption as a means of communication between British Equatorial Africa and England.

"I travelled from Mombasa to Uganda by the ordinary means—by train to rail head, which was then at Mile 448 (Lake Nakuru), thence marched and cycled to Port Florence, in Kavirondo, on Lake Victoria. I remained in Uganda for a month, and left the capital on January 19th. I had a very fortunate journey, with splendid weather, to Gondokoro. There I proceeded to Khartoum, where I arrived within seven weeks of my start from Uganda. The development which has succeeded the downfall of the Dervishes now makes it possible for any one to reach the city.

Heart of British Africa in comparative safety and comfort with but two animals in company, though the government is not prepared yet to open this route for general traffic. In Central African countries like Uganda, where the unexpected often happens, it is of great importance to know that, if necessary, troops could be poured into the country by two routes, and that the coast route is no longer the only one to be relied upon.

On leaving Mengo, Mr. Bailey cycled to Masindi, a distance of about a hundred miles, over an excellent road, through a country where there were large herds of elephants and those needed to the government fort of Pajau, where he crossed the Victoria Nile, below the Murchison Falls. Here he found the river literally alive with crocodiles and hippos. Both banks were covered with crocodiles in places, and a friend of Mr. Bailey's had shot several of these animals in the afternoon. The journey across in an ordinary native dugout canoe was therefore hazardous, but was accomplished with safety.

the falling water has to be transmitted over long distances, the cost is proportionately increased, and may become equal to steam-power. As a matter of fact, electrical energy generated by falling water is costing more at the fields, than it would cost in England if generated by steam-power. The waste gases of blast furnaces and coke ovens provide a source of power which may enter into severe competition with water in the near future. It is estimated that 2,000,000 horse-power is annually wasted in the gases issuing from the blast furnaces of the United Kingdom, and if this energy were utilized to drive gas-engines we should to a large extent be compensated for our lack of natural water power. This is being done in Bolton, and there is no reason why so much available energy should be allowed to run to waste in England. But, as he pointed out, blast furnaces require coke, and coal-beds will come to an end some day, so that even if this source of energy is tapped it can only postpone but not avert the final triumph of the waterfall and the water turbine—Leisure Hour.

QUEER SORTS OF RAIN. Singular Things Which Have Come Down from the Skies. The recent rain of blood, as it is called, would in the Middle Ages have been considered a portent. Beginning in Tunisia and Sicily, it travelled up the Adriatic to Trieste, Fiume and many other places in the Austrian dominions, and we have since heard of it at Bamberg, and even Hamburg and Schleswig-Holstein. In some districts enough material has fallen to make a thick coating of reddish mud. The particles of dust, we are told, are oleaginous, and appear to have been ejected from Hecla. This gives us quite a new view of volcanoes. We have heard that at Baku, when "oil" has been struck, it has spouted up like a fountain. Iceland has rivers, but they never discharge petroleum, and how oils are to escape being burnt up in a volcano passes human comprehension. Rather than explain the scientific mystery, we should suggest that something is going with the facts related. That the particles of floating dust are volcanic is possible. During an eruption great quantities of minute flakes are sometimes fired into the air, like powder smoke from a mine or a cannon. Mr. Whymer, during his second ascent of Mt. Vesuvius, saw the good fortune to witness this, and the subsequent transit of the material. Quite suddenly, the cone of Cotopaxi, which was full in view about sixty miles away, shot up a vast cloud of smoke-mingled steam and dust—to a height of some four miles above the edge of the crater. He watched the particles as they fell, and finally it began to fall on Chimboraço a short time after he had reached the summit. But the material brought down by these blood rains—which are not uncommon in the neighborhood of the Mediterranean—generally bears a resemblance to volcanic dust. Usually they are free from the organic material, which does sometimes come down from the sky. It does not, indeed, literally rain "cats and dogs," but fish and frogs have really descended, and the yellowish dust on Alpine snows has sometimes proved to be pollen or some minute vegetable organism.

But the dust is far more commonly mineral. That of Cotopaxi, brought home by Mr. Whymer, is a pale reddish-gray color, the particles of which seldom exceed one two-hundred-and-fiftieth of an inch, and often much less. They consist of chips of minerals, such as felspar and quartz, and fragments of mica. The exact nature of such dust depends on the volcano from which they were ejected. Some collected at Batavia, after a journey of ninety-five miles through the air from Krakatoa, contained in abundance, besides minerals, minute sea-fragments—shattered fragments of the Island of Paradoxa, singular fragments have even been found, in strata far older than the days of history, which must have travelled far, from some West Indian or Central American volcano. It is, therefore, possible that the volcanic rains may have a similar origin, but it is highly improbable for the sake has evidently been travelling continuously northward. What comes down near the Mediterranean appears not to be volcanic. The question, however, can be quickly settled by any geologist accustomed to use the microscope. The dust from the North African deserts—the probable source of this material—will be readily distinguished from that of a volcano. The rocks which have supplied it consist largely of quartz and felspar, and though the latter mineral is often much decomposed, sooner or later the investigator will find chips not only recognizable, but even to be distinguished from those which have come out of lavas. Such are plentiful enough in Nile mud; they may be recognized in the kryokonite, or mineral dust, from the Greenland ice-fields, and in numerous gulls and mudstones, often of immense antiquity. There is a little doubt as to whether the African deserts are the source of the late phenomenon. Dust storms are, as is well known, common in that part of the world. Some more violent than usual, actual tornadoes, have whirled great clouds of mineral powder to an unwonted height, and this, possibly, buoyed up after a time by small globules of water in the atmosphere, has been floated to an unusual distance from its starting point.—London Standard.

A Delicious Supper Dish for People of Weak Digestion. Malt Breakfast Food, which your Grocer delights to recommend, furnishes a most delicious supper for people of weak digestion. It quiets the inflamed and irritated stomach, gives sweet and restful sleep, and in a short time will overcome the most obstinate cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. The virtues of pure Malt make Malt Breakfast Food the ideal health food for all who cannot tolerate the common grain food—such as oatmeal, hominy and ordinary wheat products that contain so much insoluble starch. The action of the Malt in Malt Breakfast Food converts the starch and gluten of the Wheat into forms that enrich the blood, and build up the nerves and tissues of the body and brain. Malt Breakfast Food is recommended by thousands of physicians as the ideal nutrient for persons of weak digestion. Ask your Grocer for it.

COST OF POWER. Mechanical engineers and business men generally aim at obtaining a maximum amount of energy at a minimum cost. For many years the steam-engine has been supreme as the generator of power, but the water-turbine and the gas-engine have become dangerous rivals. It is, therefore, important to know the comparative cost of power obtained from the various sources, and this has been worked out by Mr. J. B. C. Kersey. As would be expected, the cheapest source of energy is the waterfall, the cost per year of electricity from dynamo driven by turbines deriving their power from naturally moving water being much less than when steam gas engines are used to drive them. If, however, the power produced from

The case for the crown in the trial of W. W. Maltby and Eugene Brooks was closed this morning with the evidence of Dr. Fraser, medical inspector of the city. This, figuratively speaking, somewhat took the wind out of the sails of the counsel for the defence, who expected that Mrs. Maltby and Miss Hat, a member of the Maltby household, would be called as crown witnesses. Accordingly they asked for an adjournment in which to decide on their course of action.

The attendance this morning was as large as yesterday, but with the exception of a slight verbal passage at arms between Dr. Hart and Mr. Powell, the proceedings were devoid of any incidents of a more than ordinary interesting character.

The evidence of Eugene Brooks at the coroner's inquest was submitted, subject to an objection from Mr. Yates, on the same ground as that raised by Mr. Powell yesterday.

The examination of Dr. Hart was resumed this morning, the witness giving evidence regarding the coroner's inquest held by him, particularly the day succeeding that in which the Maltby child died.

He was questioned at length by crown counsel regarding the character of spasmodic cramp and membranous croup. The latter was diphtheria, and really the only form of croup recognized by medical men as such. In spasmodic croup the attack usually occurred suddenly, but invariably passed away in a short while.

In connection with the Maltby case, he did not consider the symptoms he had heard those of epidemic croup. Physicians were frequently called to attend cases of croup owing to the alarming character of the symptoms.

In regard to strangulation there were three operations which produced definite results, relieving strangulation and saving life. If a child died after three or four hours previous to death, and the breathing more and more difficult, the mechanical process of allowing air into the lungs would save life absolutely.

Tracheotomy could be performed with success as long as there was life in the body. Witnesses had conducted operations of tracheotomy at McGill University. He mentioned as an instance an operation of tracheotomy performed by him at the university, saving a man from strangulation.

There was no question that the Maltby child died of strangulation. The evidence of the post-mortem showed that death did not result from heart syncope, or, in other words, cessation of circulation. Assuming that the child died of strangulation, had the operation of tracheotomy been performed life would have been saved.

The serum administered as anti-toxin was prepared from animals, invariably in a case of diphtheria, from a horse. The witness then described the action and preparation of the anti-toxin. Serum treatment, he believed, was effectual as long as there was life. This was the opinion of many eminent authorities.

While witnesses denied to see the Maltby child, from the evidence he believed that the administration of anti-toxin would have had beneficial results.

Cross-examined by Mr. Powell, witness said that the operation would save the child's life from strangulation. He was not referring to diphtheria, but to the strangulation from which death resulted. If the child had diphtheria, running four or five days, there was a great chance of septic poison entering the blood. Assuming that the disease existed this period without treatment and tracheotomy was performed to avert strangulation, he would not say that the child could not have died from diphtheria. He did not consider that it would be miraculous if anti-toxin effected recovery under such circumstances.

He believed anti-toxin effective after five days, and based his opinion on authorities he had read. He did not gain his information from personal observation, having had little experience with this treatment.

The homoeopaths were opposed to the regular school of medicine. He did not recognize his own brand as homoeopathy. Quite a little passage at arms occurred at this juncture between counsel and witness regarding the definition of the terms homoeopathy and homoeopathy, and the functions of these branches of healing.

Continuing, witness stated diphtheria was a difficult disease to diagnose. It had many dangerous and complicated sequelae, although there were other diseases which had as many ravaging accompaniments. After the operation of tracheotomy it was true that a child was liable to die suddenly, although apparently well.

He would not be prepared to say absolutely that after the disease had been running for five days the child's life would be saved by the operation.

As regards the McMillan's child, witness diagnosed the case as pneumonia, and treated it as such. If a child had diphtheria it was possible for a membrane to form in four or five hours. He examined the McMillan child's throat after it was dead, and found no membrane.

Witness was also questioned as to other cases, when His Lordship expressed a doubt as to the relevancy of this course, incidentally remarking that there was a great deal of irrelevancy in the cross-examination both to-day and yesterday. He pointed out, however, that he did not desire to curtail cross-examination.

Further cross-examination of Dr. Hart was discontinued, and Dr. Fraser, medical health officer, was called and duly sworn.

In reply to crown counsel, the witness said that in November last year there was an outbreak of diphtheria in the city, confined principally to Spring Ridge. He visited the Webber house in the vicinity of Maltby's in consultation with Dr. M. Jones. The patient there was about three years of age, and almost dead from suffocation. The operation of tracheotomy and administration of anti-toxin saved the child's life.

Subsequently he had occasion to treat the Maltby children. The entire family were sent to the isolation hospital, the second time on the 1st of December. He had seen them before they were sent there, having gone to the Maltby house between 11 and 12 o'clock in the forenoon on that day. He examined all the Maltby children, of whom there were five, and found all to be infected with diphtheria.

The Maltbys flatly refused to submit to any form of medical or surgical treatment, although recognizing his right to impose quarantine. After considerable persuasion the family were induced to go to the isolation hospital. When the children arrived they were greatly agitated, and implored their parents to protect them from the doctors, whom they designated "devils."

Mrs. Maltby was very pronounced in her opposition to medical treatment for her children. She said they were "God's children and if it was His will to take them she would rather they were taken away than be cured through physical means." The eldest child was very ill with diphtheria. An operation of tracheotomy was performed, and she recovered. The others also recovered.

Mr. Powell did not desire to cross-examine the witness, and Mr. McLean declared the case for the crown closed.

This announcement was received with some surprise by counsel for defence, Mr. Powell pointing out that they had expected Mrs. Maltby and Miss Hat to be called as crown witnesses, and had prepared their course accordingly. Both these ladies had given evidence in the preliminary hearing, and immunity from cross-examination consequently prejudiced his case. He contended the defence were entitled to have both produced for cross-examination. They had been called as crown witnesses in the preliminary hearing, and his application was that they be produced for cross-examination.

The crown counsel submitted that the crown could not be compelled to call these witnesses. The defence might do so if they desired, but it was not incumbent on the crown to produce witnesses to afford the defence an opportunity of obtaining information by cross-examination.

Further argument ensued, but the ruling being adverse to the defence, after a consultation the latter applied for an adjournment in which to decide upon their course of defence. They may have to call other witnesses.

An adjournment was granted until this afternoon at 2:30, and the court resumed the case. He contended this afternoon the counsel for the defence, applied for a further adjournment until to-morrow morning in order to give them time to prepare their course of defence.

The application was granted and the proceedings will be continued to-morrow at 10 a. m.

THE EWO INCIDENT.

Field Marshal von Wablersee Has Expressed His Regrets at Shooting of Chinese.

(Associated Press.) London, May 21.—The government was questioned in the House of Commons on the aspect of the British tug Ewo incident at Tien Tsin, when two Chinese on board that vessel were shot by Germans guarding a bridge, when the tug had fouled it.

The under foreign secretary, Lord Cranborne, in reply, said Field-Marshal von Wablersee had expressed his regret and had promised to take measures to prevent the recurrence of similar incidents.

SWEPT AWAY BY FLOOD.

(Associated Press.) Victor, Col., May 21.—John M. Glover, an ex-congressman from St. Louis, Mo. district, is reported to have met his death in the floods near Love, Col., ten miles from here on Sunday last. A horse, with a saddle, was found in that vicinity today, and it is thought to have belonged to Glover, who is missing. Just before the big flood reached the little hamlet of Love a man, believed to be Glover, was seen riding a horse down the gulch. He was in the direct path of the roaring wall of water that went tearing down the ravine.

FREIGHT RATE ON FLOUR.

(Associated Press.) St. Paul, Minn., May 21.—Officials of the lake and rail lines have adopted a rate of 19 1/2 cents on flour, both export and domestic. They have been forced to this step because the all rail lines have announced a 15 cent rate from Chicago, and at least two lines between the twin cities and Chicago agreed to a cent rate, making the all rail rate to seaboard 21 cents. The new 19 1/2 rate is immediately effective.

EMIGRATION TO HAWAII.

(Associated Press.) San Juan de Porto Rico, May 21.—Ninety hundred emigrants embarked to-day for Hawaii, leaving 400 more ready to sail. Joyous manifestations marked the departure of the emigrants. Fourteen weddings and forty-eight baptisms took place on Sunday. The emigration agents are spending it is estimated, about $10,000 in recruiting and maintaining the emigrants. Favorable reports from Hawaii have caused a continuation of the emigration.

THOUSANDS MISSING.

(Associated Press.) Kansas City, Mo., May 21.—A package containing $98,000 in currency, consigned by registered mail by the National Bank of Commerce to a bank in Great Bend, Kan., has disappeared, and detectives are working on the theory that it was stolen by someone connected with the postal service.

OBITUARY.

(Associated Press.) London, May 21.—Admiral Sir John Edmond Comberall is dead. He was born in 1829. New York, May 21.—Gen. Fitzjohn Porter, who has been ill for several weeks at his home in Morristown, N. J., died this morning, aged 30 years.

PROHIBITION IN KANSAS.

Our prohibitory legislation has all been through the courts; and the result, in a few words, is that in Kansas anything and everything in the nature of a drinking saloon, tipping shop, arm shop, or joint is a lay-up and every point of view. Intoxicating liquors may be lawfully sold in Kansas for medicinal, mechanical, and scientific purposes only, and nobody other than a legally permitted druggist may sell for these purposes. Hence the person whom we designate a joint-keeper deliberately and generally puts himself outside the law every time he sells a glass of whiskey or a mug of beer to any person for any purpose. Furthermore, the place in which he carries on the unlawful traffic was long ago declared to be a public nuisance.

This kind of legislation differs from criminal laws generally in one important particular. If a horse be stolen, a house burglarized, or a man beaten or robbed, the offence is primarily one against property or person, and hence, it is presumed that the personal interest of the individual most immediately concerned is sufficient to impel him to give information of the offence to the authorities; but in the case of unlawful liquor selling, the offence is neither against property nor person. The person who buys the liquor wants it for his own use. He asks for it, pays for it, and drinks it, or carries it away for future use. The offence is not against the person or his property, but against the whole people in their organized capacity as a state. It is not against one, but against all, taken as one, that the seller has sinned. No one person is more interested in the transaction than another, for all are equally concerned as citizens or residents of the state. It is not such an offence as would ordinarily and naturally move the average citizen to notify the law officers, even if he were present at its commission and knew all about it. The offence being against the public, it is not such an offence as would be notified by public officers ought to look after the case. And if the county attorney fails or refuses to proceed, or if, for any other reason, this law is not enforced in any county, the attorney-general of the state is required to appoint one or more assistant attorneys-general as many as he sees fit for that county—for the purpose of enforcing this particular law.

It will thus be seen that our laws and legal machinery are amply sufficient for the complete execution of the prohibitory law in every part of the state; and it is a fact that whenever and wherever the officers that are charged with its execution have faithfully done their duty as the law provides, there has been no such place running. More than two-thirds of the towns ignore the violation of the law, nearly half of these openly exacting and receiving revenue from the unlawful traffic. (Ex-Senator W. A. Peffer, in the Forum.)

NIBELISM AND RUSSIA.

It has been evident from the first that two policies are in conflict there, and that one authority of weight is urging liberty, while another is counselling, and indeed, ordering, savage repression. It is now stated that, as should have been expected, the ministers, and especially the procurator of the Holy Synod, the minister most immediately threatened, are in favor of greater severity, while the Czar himself deprecates or disallows further repression. The correspondent who sends this intelligence thinks that the Czar, unswayed, not by his minister's danger, but by some attempts on his own life, but it is at least as likely that the somewhat dreamy disposition which induced Nicholas II to circulate his arbitration programme is deeply stirred by the recent sanguinary riot, and that what he dreads is not assault upon himself, but the scenes of massacre in which the disorders threaten to end. These alarm his conscience, as the horrors of war do, and he has, it is said, warned the police not to call out the troops except in the last extremity. That is probably wise, and certainly consistent with his previous deliverances. But the ministers will not readily accept such an innovation on their traditions. They have been exasperated by the Nihilists into a spirit of hate, and it is more than probable that if the disorders continue they will have their way. The Czar, self-distrustful, he is greatly moved by steady opposition, and finding his ministers resolute, he will, we think, ultimately draw back and allow the steam-roller to proceed on its path. Quiet is the first desire of men of his type, and the ministers, excited by the threats they have received, and by the failure they fear for their system, will once more try to obtain it by the slaughter or imprisonment of all disturbers. The Nihilists, in fact, will, as before, have succeeded only in making life in Russia more intolerable for all whose intelligence rises above that of the peasant majority.—The Spectator.

CLEANING WOOLEN FABRICS.

To clean dust or grime from light cloths first brush thoroughly, then rub with cermeal, using a piece of flint cloth for the rubbing. By this simple process I have known cream-tan broad-cloth coats and skirts, so much worn now, entirely freshened and cleaned.

Grease-spots must be removed by solvents or absorbents. If the spot be fresh, and the color of the fabric will not be changed by heat, the easiest method of removal is to place a white blotting-paper above and under the spot, and then to stand at iron on it—not hot enough to color the paper. Another effective measure is to cover the spot with pulverized French chalk dry, or with the same chalk or fuller's earth moistened in benzene, to remain twenty-four hours, and then be removed if necessary, always brushing off, however, with a soft brush.—Ella Morris Kretschmar, in the Woman's Home Companion.

ATHLETICS.

VISIT OF ENGLISH TEAM.

London, May 20.—According to private cables from New York the proposal of the English universities to hold an athletic meeting here, before they meet the Americans in New York is opposed by Harvard and Yale, whose athletes want their meeting with the Oxford-Cambridge team to occur first. In reference to this, a prominent Oxford official said: "Oxford and Cambridge are not the least likely to give way on this point. We are receiving a stream of advice not to court certain defeat by doing the bulk of our preparation in the vicinity of New York during the intense heat of August and most of September. Therefore we are seeking more inviting quarters in Canada, will complete our training there and will visit New York at the latest moment possible before the day of the sports, which may now be deferred to September 28th, if the Canadian sports are fixed for September 14th, as proposed."

YACHTING.

CHALLENGER WON. London, May 21.—The two Shamrocks started this morning for a race over a triangular open sea course off Rye. Shamrock I had the advantage at the start, but Shamrock II was the winner.

FIRST OF THE SERIES.

The Victoria Yacht Club will hold the first of the series of races for the season on Saturday afternoon next. The start will be at 2 o'clock, and the route as follows: From the outer wharf around Brodie's Lodge buoy, to a boat anchored off Albert Head, and return to the starting place. The distance will be about eight miles, and the competitors will be as follows: A Class—Atlantis, Volage, Moreskwa, Dorothy, Hanshee, Mone, Nancy and Lena. B Class—Vrill, Noreen, Lurline and Lady-smith.

From the foregoing it will be observed that the pick of the Victoria fleet will take part, and a splendid race is accordingly anticipated.

THE WHEEL.
